Learn more about Shoreline gateways at July 25 workshop

One of the City Council Goals for 2002-2003 is to develop a gateway concept that can be used at entry points along Shoreline's boundary. Gateways not only act as landmarks, welcoming visitors and establishing a location, but reflect and enhance a sense of community.

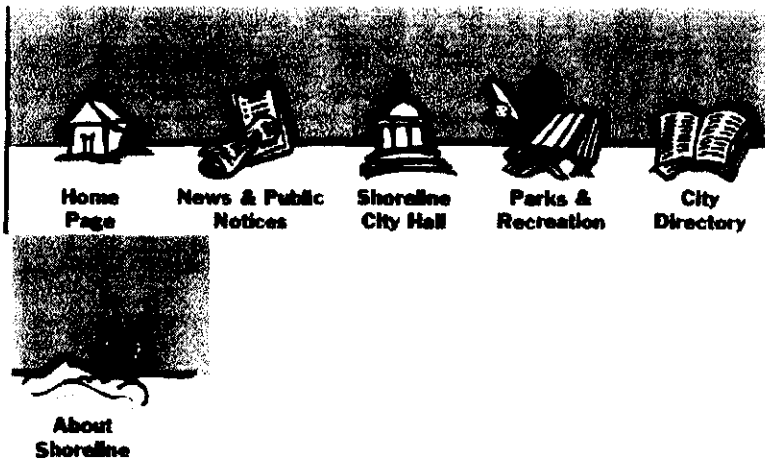

Shoreline already has a number of "Welcome to Shoreline" signs along its boundaries, as well as signs identifying specific neighborhoods. There are also two more elaborate Shoreline "gateways" at N. 145th and Aurora and at 15th Ave. NE and N. 175th St., both built in conjunction with new Walgreens stores. Now the City of Shoreline is developing an overall concept to apply to other gateways into the City.

Shoreline residents are invited to the first of two Gateway Workshops on Thursday, July 25. Co-hosted by the Shoreline Planning Commission and Parks, Recreation and Cultural Services (PRCS) Advisory Committee, the workshop will be held at 7:00 p.m. in the Board Room of the Shoreline Conference Center, 18560 First Ave. NE, Shoreline.

The first part of the workshop will be an open house with displays featuring information about potential locations for residential and major gateways; ideas for three levels of design concepts for each including rough cost; and the City's budget for the project. Staff will be on hand to answer questions and Planning Commission and PRCS Advisory Committee members will mingle to discuss ideas with those attending.

The workshop will conclude with a round table discussion with the Planning Commission and PRCS Advisory Committee to set priorities that will direct the next steps in the design process. For more information about the Gateways Workshop, call Andrea Spencer at (206) 546-1418.

Aurora Corridor Project

The Draft Environmental Impact Statement and Environmental Assessment for the Aurora Corridor Project N. 145th to 165th Streets is now available for review and public comments. Click here for more information about how you can submit your comments.

The Aurora Corridor Project is the City of Shoreline's plan to redesign and redevelop the three miles of Aurora Ave. N (State Route 99) that run through Shoreline. Aurora Avenue North between North 145th Street and 205th Street lacks consistent sidewalks, effective storm drainage, adequate roadway lighting, and has been identified by the Washington State Department of Transportation as one of the most dangerous stretches of state highway in Washington.

Shoreline's section of Highway 99 carries about 45,000 vehicles per day and is a major transit route. It also has one of the highest accident rates of any highway in the state, averaging one fatality per year. According to the Washington State Department of Transportation, between 1992 and 1996, 42 pedestrians were struck by vehicles along Shoreline's three miles of Aurora and 38 percent of those accidents were fatal or disabling (compared to the statewide average of 12 to 15 percent). More than half of all collisions occurring in the City of Shoreline are on Aurora Ave. N.

Improving safety for both pedestrians and motorists is one of the driving forces behind the project. Other goals are improving traffic flow, improving economic development potential, enhancing the livability of adjacent neighborhoods and supporting the goals and vision for this corridor that the community has expressed since before incorporation.

Below: Conceptual drawing of the design concept

The recommended design concept developed during the Aurora Corridor Multi-modal Pre-design Study, and unanimously adopted by the Shoreline City Council in 1999, addresses these goals with improved channelization, access management and pedestrian features such as lighting, bus stops, benches and signalized crossings. The pre-design process included participation from a Citizen Advisory Task Force made up of representatives from the business community, neighborhoods and transit users, and an inter-agency team that included all public sector stakeholders, including adjacent jurisdictions, transit providers and the Washington State Department of Transportation.

The design concept for the Aurora Corridor Project includes:

- Consistent sidewalks with an amenity zone to separate pedestrians from traffic and provide space for lighting, benches, fire hydrants and directional signs;

- Landscaped medians with cut outs for left-turns and U-turns, in order to reduce traffic conflicts and accidents;
- Driveway and access control to reduce accidents and improve operations and capacity;
- Improved signals and business access/transit lanes to reduce delay, significantly improve transit speed and reliability, and enhance overall traffic flow;
- Underground utilities;
- Transit boarding areas;
- Signalized pedestrian crossings.

The estimated cost of the project in 2001 dollars is $85 million. The City of Shoreline has nearly $24 million in federal, state and local funds committed to the project, and is pursuing the additional funds needed for completion of the project. Design of the first segment, from N. 145th St. to N. 165th St., should begin in 2002, and construction as early as 2004.

Central Shoreline Subarea Plan

The Central Shoreline Subarea plan is an ambitious project for the commercial area between 175th and 192nd along Aurora Avenue. The plan is part of Shoreline's Economic Development Plan created last year. The goal of this plan is to develop a subarea plan, or vision, for this area that acts as an incentive for redevelopment, while protecting nearby residential neighborhoods, and to align strategies for the use of the public right-of-way.

The design team is finalizing the plan based on feedback and suggestions from Shoreline residents and business owners. The design will be presented to the Planning Commission early this year and later, to the City Council for review.

Interurban Trail

The City of Shoreline is developing the former Interurban Rail Line into a three-mile park and trail.

Owned by Seattle City Light and used as a 115 Kv electrical power transmission corridor, the 100-foot-wide former rail corridor runs from Seattle to Everett, roughly parallel to Aurora Avenue. Portions of the right-of-way are currently used by small businesses that have short-term, 30-day renewable leases with Seattle City Light.

Shoreline and Seattle have agreed on the benefits of adding a trail to the transmission right-of-way corridor. The City is working on design and funding with a regional committee of public agencies that are developing sections of the Interurban Trail through their jurisdictions. Development of the Interurban Trail in Shoreline will not only create a linear park the length of the City, but will also provide a regional transportation link for pedestrians and bicyclists to neighboring communities.

Its close proximity to Aurora Ave. N and the economic core of Shoreline will provide access to nearby shopping, services and employment, plus access to transit centers at Aurora Village and the Shoreline Park and Ride. The trail project, when completed, will also include rest stops, interpretive historical and natural features, and directional signs. The Interurban Trail construct a major non-motorized trail of statewide significance tying several communities together.

Shoreline has secured Congestion Mitigation Air Quality (CMAQ) grant funds to prepare preliminary and final design, and TEA-21 funds for construction on three of the five segments of the trail. The City will also receive funding from the State Interagency Committee for Outdoor Recreation for the project. The current estimated cost is approximately $8.8 million in 2001 dollars, of which $3.8 million has been secured. This cost estimate includes $3.5 million for an overhead crossing of Aurora near N. 155th St.

Construction could begin during 2003 on the southern-most section of the trail from N. 145th St. to N. 155th St. Additional segments will be designed and constructed as funding becomes available.

North City Business District

While the majority of Shoreline businesses are located along Aurora Ave. N., other pockets of commercial activity are found in neighborhoods. Largest of these is the North City Business District located along 15th Ave. NE.

With the help of residents, business owners and potential developers, the City of Shoreline completed a North City Subarea Plan in 2001 to encourage redevelopment of this neighborhood business district. The plan is not only designed to attract new developers and businesses to the area, but to improve the retail climate and the streetscape for existing businesses. The plan includes coordinated street and sidewalk amenities to enhance the streetscape, new street lighting, underground utilities, signage and street furniture such as benches and planters.

As an incentive for potential developers, the City is offering a streamlined permitting process through an environmental review tool called the Planned Action Environmental Impact Statement (EIS). The EIS provides impact analysis of proposed land uses so that any future project consistent with the Plan can move through the permitting process more quickly and easily. Analyses specific to the new project such as traffic or stormwater control may still be necessary. The EIS was adopted by the City Council as part of the Subarea Plan.

The City is also investing in improvements to this area to help make the business district more attractive for redevelopment. Over the next four years, $3.9 million has been allocated in the City of Shoreline's Capital Improvement Program for design and construction of improvements in the district. This year, $340,000 is allocated for predesign.
